Leading sector specific forums across the built environment

Increase your opportunities to do business: Our forums are intense and productive; they run over a day and half with a tailored schedule of one-to-one meetings paving the way to real business. They are time efficient and cost-effective. The forums take away the hit and miss of traditional events with a schedule of guaranteed meetings with key decision-makers who are delivering live projects. These are the people that are in need of your products and services but are notoriously difficult to schedule quality time with.

It works: We have been hosting forums since 2010 and in 2020 will run 12 sector-specific events. Targeted and pre-qualified, we ensure you meet only with those with responsibility for specification and procurement.

Relationships matter

People do business with those they know, like and trust. We put that at the heart of what we do so that our forums provide the perfect platform to develop business relationships. The immersive quality of each forum gives people space, away from their day-to-day distractions to focus on conversations, spending time both in meetings and socially developing the meaningful connections that lead to real business.

meet. connect. do business: Meet with those working on the most active projects in the UK including: operators, clients, architects, contractors, developers, local authorities, project managers, M&E consultants and other senior professionals involved in specification & procurement.

In 2019 we facilitated over 8,000 one-to-one business meetings. It's a powerful endorsement that so many of our supplier delegates re-book year-on-year often attending several of our forums.

“Without doubt, these are great events to establish, develop and maintain contacts in our key target markets. They provide the opportunity to identify real projects and “open doors” that otherwise may not be accessible.”
